

Free Family Science City Night

Enjoy an evening of family science entertainment, meet real-life scientists, and explore the Science City exhibits. Let curiosity be your guide through more than 50 interactive, hands-on areas.

On Monday, Oct. 15, 2007, Science City will be open and free to families from 6:30-9:00 p.m.

Science City is located in Union Station, 30 W. Pershing Rd. in Downtown Kansas City, MO

In addition to the fantastic hands-on exhibits, the Family Science City Night will also feature:

- Kansas City Rail Experience
- Extreme Screen showings of "Pulse: A Stomp Odyssey" at 6:30 and 8:00 p.m.
- Arvin Gottlieb Planetarium shows at 6:45 and 7:45 p.m.
- Family Science Night kits and demonstrations (available for purchase)
- Guest science presenters

www.KCScienceINC.org

KC Science, INC
Inspiring Natural Curiosity

Partnership
FOR A NATION OF Learners

Museums, libraries and public broadcasters joining forces, creating value Partnership for a Nation of Learners is a Corporation for Public Broadcasting and Institute of Museum and Library Services leadership initiative